Dear Reader,

A healthy and balanced diet is as important for a glowing complexion as good skin care. Certain plant constituents, like anthocyanins, are therefore considered to be true beauty elixirs for the skin.

Our anthocyanin-enriched Maqui Berry Extract Delphinol® showed positive effects on skin-related parameters within several studies.

To further investigate this potential we recently conducted a clinical study which was published in the Journal of Cosmetics, Dermatological Sciences and Applications, Vol.10 No.4. The results confirmed that Delphinol® taken as oral supplementation is a perfect natural solution for healthy skin and vivid appearance. To secure this unique and innovative field of application for Delphinol® we have filed a patent which is currently pending (EP 3 733 194 A1).

DELPHINOL® CONTRIBUTES TO BEAUTIFUL SKIN

The randomised, double-blind, placebo-controlled clinical trial was performed with 16 Japanese women and showed that Delphinol® not only improved saturation and vividity of the skin but also impressively decreased the number of red spots and overall redness over an 8-week period.
